Site content and design

The Web site is about the Landmarks of Bahrain. It consists of 4 pages being the home page, Gallery page, List page and details page.

The home page is a brief on the Bahrain and the significance of Bahrain. Which is an introduction to the Landmarks of Bahrain that is intended to attract the users as it is the first page they will visit. The second being the Gallery Page is the Categories of the different places that is saved or built within the site is displayed. Within the slide you are able to view Historical monuments, Leisure places, Shopping spots and Food. The third page is a list of all the possible places with few details on the page. Currently three spots for each category mentioned within the gallery page is displayed in this page. The final is details page is the list of all the spots with details of these spots specified more in it.

In order to access the pages there is a navigation bar that is built on top of the website as a href link and the corresponding page can be accessed accordingly. The website mostly use cards to display the information within every pages and the styling is all done through CSS. Style sheets that is linked for every page.

Use of HTML5

The tags <section>, <head>, <main>, <time> are the HTML5 elements that is utilized within the system. Head tag is used into import all the needed CSS stylesheet, add the titles. Time tag is used within he index page as a subtitle for the cards. Section is the tag used in the contact page to differentiate every cards or parts of the website page.

CSS Explanation

For every page, the styling, alignment and fonts for all the content are through stylesheet for created for every page. Most of the cards, buttons and other utilities for the website was added into the website as a element which was defined in the CSS style sheet. The CSS files are saved within the CSS folder. Background is an image that was created using PowerPoint and add within the CSS sheets within wrap-body. Nav bar is the section that was created for the navigation bar in the top that assists the user form toggling through different pages. The home page has an image slider which is defined in the CSS including the alignment.

CSS Techniques

The CSS techniques used are hover, that helps to transform the card and elements of the parts of the pages.
